

Collection Supports Women’s Center

It was an unforgettable evening of art and philanthropy at the "For the Love of Art" event, a silent and live auction showcasing a stunning collection of artwork generously donated by the late Dr. Sandra "Sandy" Hansford.

Sandy, a passionate art lover, prolific collector, and dedicated long-time supporter of the Women's Center of Jacksonville (WCJ), left behind a legacy of artistic treasures. In the later years of her life, Sandy found joy in painting under the guidance of acclaimed Jacksonville artists Allison Watson and Ellen Diamond. Her vast art collection, which includes her own paintings, was bequeathed to the Women's Center to further support their important mission of empowering women and families in our community.

The event featured a diverse array of works, from Sandy's own pieces to those by renowned artists such as Memphis Wood, Cookie Davis, Ellen Diamond, David Engdahl, Michele Lee, Salvadore Dali, Louise Freshman Brown, Susanne Schuenke, Teresa Pennington, Gail Beveridge, Georgina Holt, and Bill Slade.

All proceeds from the event will directly benefit the Women's Center of Jacksonville, furthering its work to support women and families in need. It was an inspiring night that not only celebrated art but also honored Sandy's lasting impact on both the art community and the Women's Center.

Celebrating those Blazing the Trail

A group of Trailblazers enjoyed the evening with the artist and staff members of Groundwork Jacksonville as the sun set on the walking tour.

Groundwork Jacksonville recognized and celebrated its donors at a Jan. 30 Trailblazers event at 927 Events.

With the venue conveniently located just across the street from the Emerald Trail, guests were able to cross the Park Street overpass and view the new Park Street mural and hear from Overstreet Ducasse, the lead artist behind the custom artwork along the trail, made possible by contributions by Charles and Rushton Callaghan.

Guests were able to enjoy drinks, live music and hear more about the ongoing work for the Emerald Trail.
